Kabrita combines science with support along your infant feeding journey

All of us at Kabrita, a division of Ausnutria, a company with over 75 years of infant formula expertise and experience worldwide, recognize breast milk is considered the optimum food for babies. We also recognize the need to support all parents on their infant feeding journey and strongly believe parents supplementing or substituting with infant formula should have an option that can deliver optimal nutrition during a critical period of growth and development.

Kabrita Goat Milk-Based Infant Formula complies with the US Infant Formula Act containing 25 essential nutrients for babies and is the first goat milk-based infant formula in the US with long-term FDA authorization. The American Academy of Pediatrics supports use of goat milk-based infant formula as acceptable nutrition for non-breastfed or breastfed infants needing formula supplementation in the first year of life (Fuchs, G., Abrams S., Healthychildren.org).

Before entering the US market, Kabrita took the extra step to conduct a double-blind, randomized controlled trial to ensure its European infant formula met the FDA's strict nutrition and safety requirements. Kabrita Goat Milk-Based Infant Formula for babies from 0-12 months was found to support healthy growth and to be safe and tolerable to use in infants from birth onwards.
